Leslie Ortego's connection to SchoolStatus extends all the way back to her early friendship with Russ Davis in high school. As an integral part of SchoolStatus, Leslie brings her dedication and excitement to the forefront of her work as the VP of Customer Service. Leslie is exceedingly proud of what we've built and loves sharing both her experiences and attention to future success. Leslie not only helps to ensure our customers realize the best possible value from our solutions, but also shares our passion for expanding their relationship with SchoolStatus. Her greatest joy lies in hearing firsthand how our solutions positively impact customers' and students' lives.

Driven by people—colleagues, customers, and family—Leslie always strives to be her best. With a background in customer service, including roles at UPS and Wells Fargo Advisors, Leslie values the transformative power of education, inspired by her mother's 25-year career as an educator. She believes in the evolution of educational landscapes to best serve students' needs. Seeing mistakes as opportunities for growth, Leslie guides others to avoid similar errors and learn together as they grow. Outside work, her dynamic nature is evident in running, cycling, yoga, LEGO building with her daughter, and cleaning, all accompanied by the tunes of Taylor Swift.
